

Georgetown and Carolina Clash Here To-Day

CAROLINA EXPECTS TO SPRING SURPRISE

Tarheels Will Make Georgetown Hustle to Take Game To-Day—Blue and Gray Confident of Victory but Badly Crippled.

Line-Up of Two Elevens

GEORGETOWN.	POSITION.	CAROLINA.

None the worse for a seven-hour delay caused by the wreck of the Seaboard Air Line train which was bringing them to Richmond, the football eleven of the University of North Carolina arrived here last night at 11:35, and went to the Richmond Hotel to await the call of the whistle at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when the Tarheels tackle Georgetown University, after a lapse of several years. Coach W. C. Martin is not at all apprehensive as to his men, regardless of their rather gruesome experience, one man having been killed and another seriously injured in the wreck. In fact, the Carolinians made of themselves heroes, assisting the women and caring for the injured. Coach Martin is proud of his men, both for the courage displayed when in apparent danger and for the courage which they will display against Georgetown this afternoon on the gridiron. He is not predicting a victory, but he is hopeful of the best. The vaunted prowess of the Blue and Gray has penetrated even unto Chapel Hill, and knowing this prowess, the eleven is prepared to meet it with pluck and grit.

Georgetown failed to arrive last night, preferring to remain in Washington. The team will arrive at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and will make its headquarters at the Blues' Armory, returning to Washington immediately after the game.

Reports from the two camps are unusually optimistic. Carolina is not boasting nor making any claim of victory, but the men and coaches feel that there is a big surprise in store for the Blue and Gray if the Hilltoppers are expecting an easy victory. On the other hand, the Washingtonians are suffering from the loss of several men, who are laid up with injuries. The line-up, it is said, will be vastly different from that which faced the Indians last Saturday.

The game should be one of the most interesting of the season. Certain it is one of the most important to be played in Richmond. The dearth of really big games locally will probably cause a large crowd to make the journey to the park this afternoon. It will be the only opportunity local fandom will have of seeing the powerful Georgetown team in action. Carolina comes again Thanksgiving Day to battle the annual contest with Virginia. Read the advance dope from the two camps:

MUST FIGHT TO WIN

Chapel Hill, N. C., November 1.—Carolina will face Georgetown in Richmond to-morrow with a determination to do or die. While victory is not expected, still Georgetown must fight to win.

Two of the bright stars of the scrub team have been advanced to the training table with shining hopes of going in at some period of to-day's game. The men referred to are Erwin Blalock, who have the opportunities of working in the back field.

The personnel of the team that will face Georgetown will be of interest to fans in the two States—Virginia and North Carolina. Captain Tillett, the brilliant quarterback, will be conspicuous at all times in the game. And Costello will find this 140-pound chap an able opponent at every stage of the game. In all four of Carolina's games he has shown his ability as one of the foremost quarterbacks of the South. To watch the movements of Costello and Tillett will be a game worth seeing within itself.

Johnston, right half, weighs 150 pounds. His work in the games of the season have so far been averaging up to a reputable standard. Jennings, left guard, has been making noticeable improvements this week and his rushing tackles have torn up the scrubs' line-up going and coming. This is his first year on the Davidson squad, but he played on the Davidson team previous to coming here. He weighs 185 pounds and works like a giant.

Abernethy, right tackle, is up to "big usual form," and that is saying much. He can be counted on as a substantial standby in all games. He is brilliant, but one of the steady old reliable. He weighs 185.

Stevens, left tackle, is making a creditable showing as a first year man on the team. His weight is 195, and when he gives a rush he creates a stir.

Moore, from the Maury High School, of Norfolk, Va., is a fighter, and that was one of the stars in the V. P. I. game. He fought a snappy game.

Applewhite, a 165-pound backfielder, played on last year's team and is a worker.

Strange, right end, played on last year's varsity and has shown improvement over last year. His weight is 145.

"Little" Abernethy, fullback, has a creditable record of two years on the squad. However, his condition is not par excellence just now, due to bruises recently.

Jones, the 235-pound center, who will go up against Ritch, last year Carolina's center, is not in tiptop condition, and the coach uses the impression that he will have to show marked improvement if he is pitted over against Ritch Saturday.

It is probable that Bagwell, center for the scrubs, will stand a chance of going in the game at some time.

Huske, left end, surprised all in the game with V. P. I. Saturday, and the coach thinks he is rather promising for the Georgetown game.

Holmwood, a scrub, who is showing up well in his work at interference, will be carried on the trip to Richmond, and will probably be in the game at some stage of the battle.

CONFIDENT OF WINNING

Washington, D. C., November 1.—Confident of making North Carolina bite the dust on the Richmond gridiron to-morrow, the Georgetown football team, which will make the trip, to-day postponed its departure from this afternoon to to-morrow morning.

It was originally intended to leave Washington so that the members of the team would get to Richmond in time for a good night's rest before the game, but at the last moment the decision was reached that it would be better for the Hill Toppers to remain here to-night and make the trip early in the morning. Consequently the team will reach Richmond in the early forenoon to-morrow, take a little rest and be ready for the battle that it is expected North Carolina will put up.

The most noticeable thing about the Blue and Gray aggregation now is its crippled condition. The team, which meets North Carolina will not be the team by any means which was beaten by Carlisle here last Saturday. In spite of the serious injuries received by several of the players there is much confidence shown in fact, too much, to suit the Blue and Gray coaches. The latter realize what the laying off of several of the best men means, while the players do not appear to take this fact into consideration. If there are any crimples as a result of to-morrow's fight there is little reason to believe that victory is to be expected over Virginia in this city on November 16.

While the line-up for to-morrow's game will not be definitely agreed upon until to-morrow, it is likely that it will be as follows:

Call of Army Game. West Point, N. Y., November 1.—The football game which was to have been played here to-morrow between the Army and Holy Cross has been canceled by order of the Secretary of War.

Yale Defeats Princeton. New Haven, Conn., November 1.—Yale's cross-country team defeated Princeton over the six-mile course to-day.

CAROLINA'S BACKS AND COACH

TILLETT, Captain and quarter back. MOORE, Right half back.

MARTIN, Coach. "LITTLE" ABERNETHY, Full back.

YELLOW JACKETS SURE OF VICTORY

Expect to Take Measure of William and Mary in Championship Game.

Ashland, Va., November 1.—The Yellow Jackets leave early to-morrow morning for Williamsburg, where they will line-up against William and Mary in the second championship game.

The line-up will be slightly different from the one that faced Hampden-Sydney last week, as several of the men are on the sick list. McDowell or Scott will likely be at right end in place of Gayle, who has been nursing some bad boils on his neck and shoulders. Shaffer will likely be at left half, as Midyette has not been able to get out on the field since he hurt his shoulder last Saturday.

The team has been going at a fast clip in practice, and should have no difficulty in overcoming William and Mary, although a good game ought to result.

WARRENTON HUNT IN MERRY CHASE

Warrenton, Va., November 1.—The second drag of this week for the Warrenton Hunt Club took place here this afternoon with the meet at the farm of Mrs. F. A. B. Portman. The course, which offers a beautiful country for about three miles, with dotted fields and stiff rail fences, is one of the best known in this part of Virginia. The hounds picked up the scent at once and led the fleet a splendid run through Portman's, Payne's, Benner's, Smith's, Sector's, Bishop's and Pool's farms.

Three riding were: William F. Wilbur, M. H. S. C. Hilton Glascock, whip; Williams S. Sowers, James R. Nash, A. P. Humphreys, Jr. Mrs. Portman and Miss Mearle Stone.

Secured Second Victory. That was her second victory. On

LANGDON WILL RACE AT JAMESTOWN MEET

Former Owner of Jocund and Patron of Benning's Gathering Strong Stable for Winter Campaign—Captain Cassatt Also Ships.

Norfolk, Va., November 1.—George Waterbury Langdon, for many years a familiar figure about New York race tracks, is getting a strong stable together for racing here in November, and at one of the winter tracks later on. The nucleus of the Langdon stable came down from Canada with their popular owner. They were the two-year-old allies Briar Path and Bunch of Keys, the former a daughter of Marta Santa and Sweet Alice, and the latter a daughter of Cunard and Princess Titania.

But last week at Laurel, after Roseaux (Roseben's consistent full brother) defeated Flying Yankee, Ochre Court, Madman, Winning Widow, Amoret, Sherwood and one or two other fairish sprinters, Mr. Langdon took him for $1,600. Mr. Langdon will bring Roseaux to Norfolk with Briar Path and Bunch of Keys, for he has engaged stabling for half a dozen horses. Roseaux should win as often for him as he did for James Fitzsimmons, the man who has handled him successfully this season for Dr. B. Murray, of Newark, Del. But Roseaux is not needed in the Langdon stable to earn expense money.

Briar Path has inherited much of the speed and courage of Sweet Alice, her mother, and she is well able to shoulder the burden of maintaining the establishment herself. Briar Path showed high speed at Havre de Grace on the 19th of September, when she beat Ringing, Progressive, Little Hugh, Dogwood and Rockrest at five-eighths of a mile, which distance she covered in 1:00 3-5.

Under anything below 105 pounds Springboard holds his own with the fleetest sprinters in training at three-quarters of a mile. He has been tried out at one mile, but that distance seems to be too much for him.

The filly, Flying Fairy, was sick in the summer and did not get her racing legs until September. But she ran a couple of creditable races at Havre de Grace during the first meeting of the Hartford Agriculture and Breeders' Association, and twice within a week she has taken down a purse at Laurel. When she won at Laurel last she defeated Ringing, Sand Vale and Continental.

Captain Cassatt declared at Havre de Grace that Flying Fairy was the fastest two-year-old developed at Chesterbrook Farm since the redoubtable Gold Heels, winner in 1903 of the Suburban and Brighton handicaps at New York. Flying Fairy has shown as much speed in races as Gold Heels did in his first season, and if she goes on as did that distinguished son of The Bard and Heel and Toe, Captain Cassatt may put himself on the back and assure himself that he is one of the greatest breeders ever.

Flying Fairy is sure to distinguish herself down here. For she has just come into her own, and is at the top of her form.

Captain Cassatt, son and successor of the late Alexander Johnston Cassatt, is a thoroughly representative American sportsman. He breeds the horses he races, and races only the horses he breeds. He has a beautiful place in the most beautiful part of Pennsylvania and he is sticking it with discerning judgment with the best brood mares obtainable.

BOTH TEAMS ANXIOUS ON EVE OF CONTEST

Virginia and Vanderbilt Rest Before Big Battle—Neither Overconfident, and Orange and Blue Alumni Hopeful for Best.

It is thought that they will be taxed to their capacity. Coach McGugin, of the Vanderbilt team, said to-night:

"I am expecting a hard game with Virginia, and our men have not been overconfident at any time. We know that Coach Elliott's men will put up the fight of their lives, and, although we should win on past form, this may not cut any figure in the result. We will give them the best we have from the start, and, barring injuries to either side, the game should be a close one. May the better team win out. We will have no excuse to offer if defeated."

TECHS WORKING FOR W. & L. GAME

Eleven in Good Shape and Getting Better—Big Contest Next Saturday.

Blacksburg, Va., November 1.—With the Washington and Lee game just ten days off the V. P. I. football team has entered upon the most strenuous period of the season's work. Several of the men are suffering from minor injuries sustained in the North Carolina game last Saturday, but by the time the Washington and Lee game arrives they hope to be in excellent shape.

The team and the student body at V. P. I. realize the great effort upon the part of Washington and Lee to win over V. P. I. in football. For the past seven years V. P. I. has won every game between the two colleges with the exception of last season, when the score was 6 to 4. Football fans who witness the game are promised one of the best games to be played in this section this season.

The V. P. I. team has been steadily improving until their play as this time is encouraging. Team work is the great effort being put forth. The men are tackling like tigers, and are playing a hard, aggressive game. With the condition which they hope to arrive at previous to the Washington and Lee game they should make a hard crowd to beat. Barring unforeseen accidents or setbacks in the meantime, V. P. I. expects to put on the field the strongest team played this season. Two full sets of backs are being worked out, with little to choose between them. There are four substitutes whom men have been playing in all of the games to date who are on hand to fill in any of the line positions.

Winthead has been shifted to end and should put up a good game, as he is a hard fighter.

V. P. I. is counting strongly on her characteristic fighting spirit, and with the improvement in team work that is looked for should be able to uphold the reputation gained by its success on the gridiron.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF HERMITAGE GOLF CLUB

The annual meeting of the Hermitage Golf Club will be held Saturday, November 16. The meeting is of great importance, as a board of governors is to be named and several changes in the constitution suggested. The principle suggestion is one regarding membership. As all changes to the constitution require a majority vote of all resident members, either in person or by proxy, Secretary John B. Organ is anxious that all who can will attend.
